

I Will Trust In You

Sun and moon and stars are signing
Distress upon the earth
So much fear and foreboding
Of what is happening in the world

Chaos and confusion
Here and all around
The powers of heaven shaken
Tumbling to the ground

Even climate now is changing
The earth is not the same
The violence that it's naming
Added to my shame

Can it be that at this moment
Redemption's drawing near?
Stand and lift your head in wonder
Is the kingdom really here?

I will trust in You
You are my strength
I will trust in You
I will not be afraid

Even now a child is coming
In a humble little town
Able to lift up the lowly
And bring the haughty down

Such a tiny little body
Sun and moon and stars look on
For the revealing of the mystery
Of the wisdom of God

I will trust in You
You are my strength
I will trust in You
I will not be afraid
